It was predicted officially for the administration Friday that the anthracite strike would reach its climax in less than a week. At the same time, however, it was pointed out that government information indicates an existing shortage of 30,000,000 tons which could not be made up within a year's time. The most recent reports on bituminous production, it was added, show that with full operations restored the normal surplus could not be in storage until next April.

GIRL FINDS FATHER OF 15 YEAR SEARCH

Milwaukee — After a search of fifteen years, Francis Van Wie, 534 Tenth street, and his daughter, Mabel, were united on Monday. The girl was found at the home of Mrs. William Nichols, 145 Eighth street.

In 1917, Van Wie joined the army. His wife had obtained a divorce from him and left their home, which was then in Chicago. On his release from the army, Van Wie was unable to locate the woman and child and came to Milwaukee.

A roomer at the home of Mrs. Nichols, Harry Anderson, noticing an advertisement in a local paper in search of the girl, called on the girl's father to ascertain whether Van Wie was seeking Mabel. He found Van Wie at 534 Tenth street and several days later the father and daughter were united.

IRISH LEADER DIES

ARTHUR GRIFFITH
By Associated Press

Belfast—Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eirenn died in Dublin Saturday of influenza, it has been learned in Belfast.

Mr. Griffith was ill only ten days, and his illness was not considered serious. Friday, however, he suffered a sudden relapse and died early Saturday morning.

His death occurred at 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Vincent hospital, Dublin, which he entered ten days ago for an operation for tonsillitis. He was recovering from the operation and apparently regaining his normal strength during the last few days.

GRIFFITH ONE OF GREAT LEADERS OF MODERN IRELAND

Did Much To Form Present Irish Free State Government of Island

By Associated Press
Belfast—The death of Arthur Griffith marks the passing of one of the foremost figures in modern Ireland. He was one of the most conspicuous leaders in the creation of the new Irish Free State. He was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland and has become among its foremost leaders.

Mr. Griffith established the newspaper United Irishmen followed by the Sinn Fein and then the Nationality.

In July 1918, Griffith was elected acting president of the Irish National Assembly in the absence of Eamon De Valera, who was in the United States. In October of the same year he was elected one of the permanent vice-presidents of the Sinn Fein organization.

Griffith was arrested in Dublin in November, 1920 and during his imprisonment issued a message to the Irish people as to the conduct of the Sinn Fein organization. An attempt was made to rescue him from Mount Joy prison but the attempt failed to carry out its mission.

Early in June, 1921, there were reports of a London conference at which Irish leaders would be invited to consult with members of the British cabinet. Griffith was mentioned among the probable delegates. His release from Mount Joy prison followed later in the same month.

Griffith accompanied De Valera to London in July, when the extended series of conferences was opened. Later Griffith was appointed chairman of the Sinn Fein mission. He was in London through October, November and December, carrying on the negotiations which culminated on Dec. 5, with the signing of the treaty between Great Britain and Ireland and which has since been approved by the British parliament and the Dail Eireann.

Washington—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday: Considerable cloudiness, normal temperature, scattered local showers.

HARDING PLAN ON TARIFF IS UP TO SENATE

President Thinks More Executive Power Would Be Cure For Tariff Ills

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—President Harding's original proposal made in his message to congress, that he be given authority to increase or decrease tariff duties so as to meet changing economic conditions has come up at last.

While objections galore are being voiced on the theory that congress should not delegate its powers, the plain truth of the matter is that the executive provision is the cure for such bad features of the Fordney bill as are admittedly contained in the bill as it stands today and as it will be passed.

"If the Fordney bill is laid in spots, the flexible provisions will correct it," is what the Republican leaders will be able to say in the coming congressional campaign. It will be contended that in such a big piece of legislation mistakes will creep in but that unlike other tariff bills, whose defects cannot be immediately cured without the prolonged debate in congress, the machinery will have been provided for revision by the president on advice of the tariff commission.

Mr. Harding would have the power to proclaim new duties on 60 days notice.

QUESTION CONSTITUTIONALITY

The constitutional lawyers in the senate are already at odds over such a law and unquestionably some day there will be a lawsuit over a changed duty in some industry and the principle will be settled once for all. The trend of decisions of the supreme court of the United States in the last generation has been in favor of delegation of power to commissions.

RAILROAD AGENT SHOT AND OTHERS BEATEN BY MOB

Strike Sympathisers Intercept Carload of Nonunion Men Near Saunders, Wis.

By Associated Press
Superior—One Great Northern railroad special agent was shot and seriously wounded, another severely beaten and four others bruised at Saunders, Wis., seven miles from here early Saturday, when a mob of strike sympathizers intercepted a carload of nonunion employees enroute from Minneapolis to Superior.

The nonunion employees said to number about 10 were then tied, napped and taken into the woods nearby. A detachment of police and deputy sheriffs are searching for the woods for the men.

George Braue, 27, of Superior who with another guard accompanied the train from Minneapolis was shot through the breast. George Thrift of Superior, formerly district federal prohibition chief here, was the guard severely beaten. The men were brought to the local hospital for treatment.

The attackers, said to number between 40 to 50 armed men, fired four shots at the guards when they stopped at the coach and attempted to prevent the raiders from entering, according to information received by Frank D. Kelsey, district superintendent of the Great Northern. The guards did not return the fire, it was reported.

It was reported that six of the ten men kidnapped had been accounted for and that four of them had been beaten. One of the workers was found six miles from Saunders where he had run all the way carrying a suitcase.

A divorce was granted Gladys Holmes in municipal court Saturday morning from her husband, Robert J. Holmes, on the charge of desertion. ## WEDDING NOT DELAYED BY STRIKE

Sergeant Frank Becker of the Illinois guards and Miss Theresa Frank, Chicago, had everything arranged for their wedding when he was ordered to rail strike duty at Bloomington. So they were married at camp. Here Lieut. Col. Richmond is kissing the bride just after the ceremony.

MRS. M'CORMICK WILL WED YOUNG SWISS, IS REPORT

Another Chapter in Romantic Episodes of Wealthy McCormick Family

Chicago—With Harold F. McCormick married to Mme. Ganna Walska and enroute to Switzerland on his honeymoon, and with Miss Mathilde McCormick, his 17-year-old daughter, already in Switzerland where it is reported she will shortly marry Max Oser, elderly proprietor of a riding academy, Chicago turned Saturday to rumors of another budding romance in the McCormick family.

Rumors which have been current for months that Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, divorced wife of the former president of the International Harvester company, and herself the daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., will marry Edward Kremm, 28-year-old Swiss architect and landscape gardener, have been revived as a result of the McCormick Walska nuptials in Paris. Mrs. McCormick has declined to be interviewed.

"Mrs. McCormick," her secretary told an Associated Press reporter Saturday, "will have nothing to say for the present."

Mr. Kremm came to America with Mrs. McCormick's party last fall when he returned from eight years residence in Switzerland. Since then he has occupied himself with remodeling his Lake Forest country home, which she purchased from Mr. McCormick at the time she obtained the divorce last December, and with plans for the forest preserve zoo which she is presenting to Cook county.

DAUGHTER SURPRISED

Friends of the family are waiting to see the reaction of Miss Muriel McCormick, eldest daughter of the former Harvester head, to her father's second marriage. When reporters broke the news to her she exclaimed "Oh, Lord!" Later she made no effort to conceal her antipathy. Like her younger sister, Mathilde, and her brother, Fowler, she chose to live with her father after the separation of her parents.

Since the departure of Mr. McCormick and Miss Mathilde for Europe, Miss Muriel has made her home at the old Cyrus McCormick homestead where her father took up his residence when Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick returned from her long absence abroad. If Mrs. McCormick decides to marry, the ceremony cannot take place until a year has elapsed from the time of her divorce Dec. 28 of last year. The Illinois law does not permit the remarriage of divorced persons within one year, if they continue to reside in this state.

ANTIGO CITIZENS FILE PROTEST ON WATER LEVEL

Madison—Citizens of Antigo filed a complaint with the Wisconsin Railroad Commission Saturday alleging that the water of Lower Post dam, in the Wolf river was at an unlawful level and asked that the commission determine the lawful level of the water. ## BLAINE APPOINTS MORRISSEY COAL AGENT FOR STATE

Will Go To Washington To Take Care of Northwest Priority Orders

Madison—John D. Morrissey, superintendent of public property was Saturday appointed by Governor Blaine to be the special agent to be sent to Washington to press approval of priority orders and have the general supervision of coal to be sent into Wisconsin and to lakes Michigan and Superior ports.

The appointment of Mr. Morrissey was in accord with the action of governors attending the northwest coal conference in St. Paul, Aug. 10, who decided to send a special agent to Washington during the coal crisis.

"The duty of each agent," Governor Blaine said, "is to press approval of priority orders and have general supervision in seeing that the coal shipped from the mine to Lake Erie ports for Lakes Michigan and Superior docks and that all rail coal is kept moving from the mines to the respective states, as may be allotted by the federal fuel administrator and to follow up every shipment either by lake or rail, until there is a certainty that the coal reaches the state to which it was allotted. The emergency is so acute that every available agency in the state and federal government be put in action at once."

Mr. Morrissey is well equipped for this purpose," said the executive, "having been general agent of the South Shore railroad for 22 years and is familiar with the transportation of coal, both by rail and water."

STEVENS LOSES IN SEMI-FINALS

Wausau—"Bob" Evans, Wausau, earned his way into the finals of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association tournament here Saturday morning, by playing the difficult course in one over par. Evans made a 37-33 75 against a 37-37 74 par. He had his match all his own way, his opponent "Buster" Bock of Sheboygan, being unable to hold his score down on the green and losing the match 5 up and 4 to play, mainly because he was unable to sink his putts.

Miller, of Fond du Lac, and Jack Stevens of Appleton, fought neck and neck for 17 holes of loose play. On the eighteenth, Stevens was one up played into the trap. A poor "out" gave him a 7 against a par 5 on the hole. Miller made the hole in the desired 5 and won the hole and the match. The scores were Miller 41-43 and Stevens 40-43-82. The putting of both players was mediocre, neither being able to drop the ball in the cup without much effort. In the second flight Donald Gooding, of Wausau, and S. Clinefin of Appleton, cleaned up with 88 and 83 respectively. The first won his match one up in 19 holes, the latter by 4 and 8.

Finals rounds are being played Saturday afternoon.

SEEK GIRLS IN PROBE OF FARM HOUSE MURDER

Authorities Believe Visitors From Chicago To Be Implicated in Crime

Madison—Interest in the brutal Casey Fraire killing of Julius and Mary Balzer and the beating into unconsciousness of William Balzer, shifted to Racine, Wisconsin Friday morning where one of the two girls who were reported to have stayed at the Balzer home about a month ago, was reported apprehended.

Sauk county officials believed that the reported apprehension of the girl, should it be the right one, would be the key to the mystery which has baffled county authorities and special investigators since the murders became known Wednesday night.

The two girls who are believed to have come from Chicago to visit at the home of the Balzers stayed but a few days. Neighbors claimed that their visit was not welcomed by the victims of Sauk county's brutal crime.

The two girls were said to have been between the ages of 22 and 24 years of age.

William, brother of the two victims, tossed around in his bed at the at the Sauk City hospital moaning and uttering weird expressions as though trying to unfold the mystery. Once late Friday afternoon, William regained consciousness long enough to say that alleged killers were about 30 years old and that one wore a cap and the other a straw hat. He then lost consciousness.

HOPE FOR RECOVERY

County authorities and special investigators were hopeful that William would recover as he holds the key to the solution of the murders of his sister and brother. His condition was reported about the same Saturday morning. The investigators were also centering their activities in Chicago and Milwaukee in the hope that their efforts would lead to some definite solution.

The funeral of the victims was to be held Saturday in the little German Reformed church to which the family of Balzers belonged. Services will be brief, it was announced and the victims will then be laid away. The family of redheads for they never mingled very much with their neighbors, nor even at church services, were regarded as ardent church members, attending services regularly.

Feeling against the murderers was again at a high pitch Saturday. Sauk City villagers congregated to hear the latest developments and comment upon the possible apprehension of the slayers. Villagers were optimistic, declaring that the slayers would be brought to justice soon while authorities concerned in investigating the mystifying crime, admitted that they had no solution to offer at present.

DRUNKEN DRIVER KILLS TWO BOYS

Escanaba, Mich.—Wellington Wilson, driver of a taxicab and his companion Menrv Moias, are facing a possible charge of murder or manslaughter for the killing of two boys, Kenneth Sloan, 13 years old and George Curran 14 Wilson and Moias who were riding in the cab with Wilson, were intoxicated, it was alleged, and ran down the boys, who were riding on a bicycle. The Sloan boy was instantly killed and George Curran died soon after his removal to hospital.

When Wilson and Moias were arrested they told the police, it is said, they had bought the liquor from Mrs. Neil Maalo. Police immediately placed her under arrest.

According to witnesses of the accident the boys were riding on one bicycle when the taxicab came into sight, going at a high rate of speed. After hitting the boys, it turned off to the sidewalk, pulling an electric light pole from the ground. Pedestrians and the crowd which gathered were not aware of the danger of electrocution from the high tension wires which lay on the street.

Answer Said To Be Rejection Of Harding's Plan

Decision of Shopcraft Union Leaders Has Been Sent to White House

RESPONSE WILL BE FINAL

Heads of Nonstriking Unions Will Hold Meeting With President

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Heads of striking railroad unions shortly before 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon announced that they had agreed on a response to President Harding's latest settlement proposal.

The response was understood to be a rejection of the proposition to leave seniority of strikers to the decision of the railroad labor board but no statement was made.

The decision of the union leaders, it was announced had been forwarded to the White House by messenger.

Officials of railroad labor organizations not on strike including the brotherhoods of operating trainmen, by D. L. Sheppard head of the brotherhood of conductors, will go to the White House at 2:30 to present a memorial. This in written form will be supplemented, Mr. Sheppard added, by verbal representations concerning the strike situation made by union officials.

Mr. Sheppard said that pending their meeting with the president the chiefs of the nonstriking unions would have nothing to say. They expected, however, to report to the spokesmen of the striking unions who will remain in session during the absence of the others. None of the officers of the shopcraft unions will go to the White House it was said, and unless something develops at the meeting with the president the response given to the president is final.

NORTHCLIFFE IS FIGHTING FOR LIFE

Death is Near But Famous Journalist Puts Up Hard Struggle Against It

London—Fighting for life with the will that carried him from penniless childhood to the peak of British journalism, Viscount Northcliffe on Friday amazed physicians by once more winning a reprieve when death seemed but a matter of seconds.

Some law violations, the speakers pointed out.

A bulletin issued by his physicians, stated that the condition of the famous publisher was unchanged.

FIGHTS IN DELIRIUM

Although Northcliffe's condition was hopeless, doctors and specialists were doing their utmost to prolong his life.

In his delirium which grows more frequent, the "chief," as they called him in Fleet street, fussed with those about him, and sent up and sent orders to his papers. He refused to give in. A telephone, connected near his bedside, enabled him to send instructions to his editors.

But the messages never reached Fleet street. A secretary took them down in an adjoining room.

INDIAN IS HELD FOR AUTO STEALING

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Roland, Oshkosh, 22, an Indian who claims to be the great grandson of Chief Oshkosh, after whom the city of Oshkosh was named, was brought to Milwaukee Saturday by Frank Smith deputy United States marshal under arrest on the charge of stealing an automobile.

Oshkosh is alleged to have stolen the machine from another Indian at the Menominee reservation where he lives. He drove the auto 120 miles to Goodman where he was arrested. He was arraigned before a United States commissioner at Shawano waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bail. Unable to give bail, he was brought to Milwaukee where he will remain in jail until the grand jury meets unless he is able to give bail in the meantime.

Oshkosh attended the Carlisle Indian school for 2 years.

LINIMENT IN BEER MAKES MANY SICK

Milwaukee—Liniment out into near beer to give it a "kick," is responsible for an increasing number of cases of illness in Milwaukee and the adjoining country, prohibition leaders declared on Friday.

State wholesale distributors of liniments will be checked up during the coming week to ascertain where the bulk of their output is going and to learn if they have been selling their product to persons who may have been using it to give a higher alcohol content to near beer.

Many intoxicated persons brought to hospitals have been found suffering from various kinds of alcohol poisoning, other than moonshine and whiskey, and it is probable that many have been either drinking the adulterated near beer or even the unadulterated liniments and tonics.

Officials of Milwaukee wholesale drug companies were noncommittal, but declared that they believed it probable that persons unable to procure whiskey were buying the liniments to obtain the desired kick for their soft drinks and near beer.

Most liniments have denatured alcohol, which is highly poisonous, as a base. The other ingredients like oil of wintergreen are also harmful to the stomach.

MONDAY PICKED AS MEETING DAY FOR CLUBWOMEN

Directors Outline Activities for Season—Miss Johnson Resigns

That Monday is to be Appleton Women's club day in the rearrangement of the programs of organizations was decided at the special board meeting of Appleton Women's club at the clubroom at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Practically every member of the board who is in Appleton was present.

An effort is being made to simplify the program of meetings for women in Appleton in order to give them more time at home and in order to have fewer conflicts in their activities. Tuesday has been favored by church societies as "church society" day, while Wednesday has been suggested as the day for all clubs except Appleton Women's club. The plan to be worked out by the larger club is to have each department meet only once a month and that at 3 o'clock on a given Monday and to have only one regular general meeting of the club, the day to be decided when all the organizations come together to make their final plans. Lessening the number of days taken up by outside activities and simplifying of the club's programs have come as the result of a "stay-at-home" slogan started by educators in the city, who feel that the children need more companionship from their parents.

AMERICANIZATION

Directors voted to appoint a committee to assist with the Americanization program which is being worked out by W. S. Ford, principal of the vocational school. The resignation of Miss Constance Johnson was accepted, but Mrs. L. C. Sleeper reported that no director of the recreational work has been appointed to take her place. Miss Johnson's resignation is to take effect Sept. 24.

The board also voted to put on another amateur play under the direction of W. F. Marlett, who produced "Town Topics" for the club last year. The dates which have been suggested for the play are Dec. 12 and 13. There is a possibility that the dates may be made earlier in December, however. Arrangements are also under way for a piano concert to be given at Memorial chapel on either Sept. 15 or Sept. 19.

ENLARGE BULLETIN

HARDING TARIFF PLAN IS UP TO SENATE

haps the most notable example was the grant by congress to the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate railroad rates. This law was bitterly contested but its constitutionality was finally upheld.

CITE INCOME TAX LAW

Nothing more conspicuous, however, has come up than the income tax laws which establish broad principles but which permit an executive department of the government powers in interpreting the law. The flexibility is such that the treasury department can automatically by the simple issuance of a ruling increase or diminish the amount of taxes received by the government without asking further consent from congress. Thus congress has on more than one occasion permitted an executive department to regulate the amount of income received by the government and those who favor the flexible tariff provisions point out that there is essentially no difference between a delegation of the interpretative power under the income tax laws and the change of rates on imports when costs of production have varied since a law was passed.

TRADE VOTES

Under the present system a group of politicians get together and trade votes and fix up rates to suit themselves. Sectionalism and special privilege have an enormous influence on the making of the bill which when it comes to the executive is so complicated that he must accept the good with the bad and sign the whole thing rather than reject it all in order to cure a specific fault. Similarly members of congress have excuses to their constituents year after year by saying that they did not dare to vote against the whole bill even though they disapproved of portions of it.

As for the constitutionality bogey it will not get very far unless senators have some other reason for wanting to see the flexible tariff provision killed. Congress in the last 20 years has gotten so much in the habit of delegating power to the executive which really belonged to congress that the obstacle of alleged unconstitutionality can hardly be taken seriously by the majority.

CHILTON HUNTERS ORGANIZE TO SAVE GAME FOR FUTURE

M. A. Schwab is Principal Speaker at Organization Meeting Last Week

M. A. Schwab of Appleton, secretary of the Wisconsin Game Protective association, assisted in the organization of the Calumet Rod and Gun club at Chilton last week. Some 50 members signed up at that time but an active campaign to secure 400 members will be launched. It is the aim to line up every hunter and fisherman in the county.

Mr. Schwab gave an interesting talk on the great outdoors and the work of the fish and game protective associations. He cited several things that have been instrumental in killing off the fish and game in Wisconsin. There are at present 73 clubs in the state which are doing all in their power to conserve and protect the game and cooperate with the state in stopping game law violations, the speaker pointed out.

Wisconsin is the fishing rounds for seven states and unless action is taken to keep the streams supplied with fish and the woods with game there will be no fish or wild animals, Mr. Schwab said. He advocated more fish hatcheries to supply the necessary fry to stock the streams. He stated that every sportsman should look to the future and see that his children would have the same opportunities to hunt and fish as he himself had. Only by protecting the fish and game now and restocking could this be accomplished. He condemned netting and illegal fishing and placed it on a par with burglary.

John Egan, of Manitowoc, conservation warden, who was also a guest of the meeting asked the cooperation of the members in stopping law violations.

FORESTER COURTS TEST STRENGTH AT PICNIC

One of the big features of the Forester picnic at Pierce park, Wednesday, Aug. 16, will be a tug of war between teams representing neighboring courts. It will take place about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and a prize will be awarded to the winners. The committee in charge has made arrangements with the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. for extra street car service. The courts of all the neighboring cities have been invited and are planning to send large delegations. Games and contests will take place throughout the day and there will be dancing after noon and evening. Gib Horst's orchestra of Chilton will furnish the music. The 25 prizes in the recent schafkopf tournament will be awarded at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In the event of rain the picnic will be held Thursday, Aug. 17.

MARINETTE PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE FOR SCHNEIDER

The Marinette Progressive club went on record this week in supporting George W. Schneider of Appleton for congressman of the Ninth district. Although Senator LaFollette and Governor Blaine and other candidates of the LaFollette ticket were endorsed, dissension arose in the meeting when it came to the endorsement of a candidate for congress. After much discussion the club agreed on George W. Schneider. Attorney John H. Francis presided over the meeting and Warner N. Schomaker was elected to the only permanent office in the organization, that of secretary and treasurer.

BANDITS TAKE $19,000 FROM MINNEAPOLIS BANK

Minneapolis—Three armed bandits raided the Penn Avenue State Bank here Wednesday, while the cashier was at lunch, forced two girl employees to lie on the floor, looted cash drawers, a vault and the safe of $19,000 in cash and securities and escaped in an automobile.

Richard's Plan Will Be Credit To Council And City, Boldt Says

Few Changes in Street Names Worse Than None at All—Richard Plan Has All Advantages of Ideal System.

One more resident has come out in support of the Richard plan of renaming and renumbering Appleton's streets. Mr. Richard's plan is to name half the streets in alphabetical progression and designate the other half by numbers. The terms "streets" and "avenues" would be used. All named streets are to be east of Oneida st., all named avenues west of Oneida st., all numbered streets to be south of College-ave. and all numbered avenues to be north of College-ave. Other readers are invited to express their views on the subject. Several other plans have been published in the Post-Crescent.

Street Names Editor: That the present method of naming Appleton's streets is not practical has been my belief for some time, and I have been interested in giving thought to the various plans proposed in your columns.

There is no question in my mind but that the system, as proposed by Mr. Richard, should be adopted by the city, as it is the most simple and complete system that could be had, and with it in use anybody could find a street and number without any trouble.

To make just a few changes would be worse than none at all, and to adopt a plan that would require two directions for every address would be the most complicated affair that the city could have and would never work out satisfactorily.

The system of Mr. Richard has all the advantages that any one could wish for to make things simple and easy, and has not two directions to a street address or other complicated ideas that would be a hardship to the citizen as well as to the stranger.

I sincerely hope that the city will adopt a plan which will be a credit to the city as well as to the judgement of every member of the council, and such credit can be had if the Richard system is adopted.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing."—Mrs. J. M. SIBBERT, 4082 High St., Everett, Washington.

To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and "no good" feelings disappear.

FARMERS DON'T LIKE METHOD OF ASSESSING STOCK

Breeders Believe They Are Taxed Twice Under Present System

Outagamie county farmers who raise pure bred stock are showing considerable interest in a movement that has been started to change the method of assessing registered stock for taxation purposes. Under the present law the assessor fixes a valuation of pure bred stock by determining their value as ordinary grade stock and then doubling it.

Stockraisers maintain this is unfair because the animal, as it stands in the barn, has no greater value than any other cow. It does not produce much more milk nor is it worth more when sold for beef. It has, however, a greater value when sold for breeding purposes. They argue that when a pure bred cow is sold at a high price this income must be noted in the income tax report and the farmer is required to pay a tax on this profit. If the pure bred stock is assessed at twice the value of grade stock they believe they are being taxed twice.

It also is pointed out that the majority of farmers pay a larger personal property tax than income tax therefore there is no income tax to pay and consequently there will be a loss in revenue to the state if the method of taxation is changed.

BEST BAND EVER AT CAMP IS CAMP CUSTER'S VERDICT

Appleton Artillery Band Gets Great Reception at Battle Creek, Mich.

Members of the 121st Artillery band, which returned Friday from Camp Custer, have many pleasant recollections of the nice things that were said about them at the military reservation. Officers of the regular army and the national guard were a unit in declaring the band to be the best army musical organization they had ever heard. Citizens of Battle Creek, where Camp Custer is located, are accustomed to hearing splendid military bands but they said that never before had a musical organization of such standing excellence visited their city. Two other regular army bands, including the fa-

"I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first three applications allayed the itching, and in less than two months I was healed." (Signed) W. C. Tanner, 105 W. Columbia St., Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 27, 1922.

142 VETERANS GET HELP IN A MONTH

Red Cross Chapter Still Has Much Work Among Former Service Men

The monthly Red Cross post war service report shows that 142 men were given service during July. The number of new claims filed was 5; dependency claims, 2; additional evidence for claims, 22; retainer pay 3; insurance information, 5; insurance reinstatement, 1; insurance conversion, 3; insurance change of beneficiary, 2. Eleven citizens and employers of former service men visited the office to make affidavits. Ninety victory medal applications and 140 insurance information circulars were sent out from the office.

This activity is the result of the county census work which reveals there still is much work to be done.

Bruno Bell and Joseph Reppner, who are attending the Coyne electrical engineering school at Chicago, are spending several days vacation at their homes.

W. F. WINSEY

Republican Candidate for the office of Register of Deeds.

Will appreciate your support at the September primary.

Kaukauna Times: The qualifications of W. F. Winsey for Appleton for the office of register of deeds are certainly sufficient to entitle him to the support of all Republican voters and unless Outagamie county decides on giving a man a life tenure of office Mr. Winsey ought to win at the September primary without much difficulty.

His opponent has certainly held county office long enough and except for the old rule that no politician ever resigns or lays aside the duties of his of-ice willingly it is about time that he gave way to another man.

All this is but a negative setting forth of Mr. Winsey's qualifications and takes no account of the positive elements of Mr. Winsey's candidacy. On this side there is much that could be said for while Mr. Winsey has long taken an active part in public affairs he has never held a public office nor sought preferment at the hands of his fellow citizens. That he now seeks such preferment entitles him to the thoughtful consideration of Outagamie county voters.

FOOTBALL GOSSIP BEGINNING TO BE HEARD AMONG FANS

Material for Next Season Seems to be Plentiful for Good Grid Teams

Kaukauna—With the baseball season still apparently at its height, one occasionally hears sounds surprising like the thud of a pigskin. The time is slowly but surely coming when outlaw baseball and busted leagues will be pushed into the background by the new sport.

The legion football team undoubtedly will resume its progress although little has been done as yet that is worthy of publication.

Kaukauna high school also merits consideration. Although seven or eight of the busiest men of the high school team have graduated there are others to take their places as well as considerable new material coming in from the public and parochial graded schools. Captain Elmer Ott has lined up a string of likely candidates from which he expects to pick a successful combination. Among those graduated are John Hale, Mark Griffith, Fred Mueller, Erwin Schwin, Richard Smith, Hawkin Hovde and Carl Anderson. A few of the above mentioned boys, who all were regulars on the first team, saw their first season of football last year and made a success of it.

There still are several "old heads" around which to build the eleven. Milton Metz, Frank Jirkovic, Robert McCarty, Jacob Hovde, Elmer Grimmer, Melvin Luckow, Louis Miller, Eugene Van Able, Elmer Ott, Lyman Peranteau, Sylvester Dix are members of the first team. A few of the fellows distinguished themselves but were too light last year to be regular players.

Other possible candidates which Captain Ott has singled out are Joseph Borgeson, Arny Bayvegon, Russel Brenzel, Harold Frank, John Farwell, Jack Tullock, Alfred Ristau, Ray Smith, William Taylor. Workouts probably will begin shortly after the opening of school so that the fellows will be in shape for the opening of the season.

KAUKAUNA PLANS TO TAKE BATTLE FROM CHAIR CITY

Brautigan's Men All Set to Knock Famous "Buster" Braun for a Goal

Kaukauna—Billy Liebel's valley league players will invade Kaukauna Sunday afternoon and will attempt to repeat the trick of last Wednesday but Brautigan's men have other plans and a good battle is expected. There will be no alibis, the best team will win.

"Buster" Braun probably will hurl for the visitors. Unless he displays better form than Wednesday it will be curtains for his team before the end of nine innings. The local club expects to settle down and play ball and it will be a surprise if the team loses.

Diederich probably will start on the mound with Marty Lamers as second choice. Marty pitched a whale of a game last Sunday and can be counted upon to deliver the goods. With the staff of hurlers Kaukauna has, there ought to be little trouble in downing the Chair City, even if it takes every pitcher to do it.

The coming of Sheboygan to Kaukauna will recall the old days when the two cities were neighbors in the old league. A friendly spirit has always existed between the cities and it is expected a record crowd will turn out to welcome the strangers back to the field.

COUNTY LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY FOURTH GAMES SUNDAY

Interlakes Tied With Hortonville For Second

Kimberly at Freedom—Black Creek at Dale—Hortonville at Interlake

SUNDAY'S GAMES
INTERLAKE AT HORTONVILLE
BLACK CREEK AT DALE.
KIMBERLY AT FREEDOM.

Teams of the Outagamie County league will take up their bats and gloves for the third contest of the league's race Sunday afternoon. Kimberly, which won first place in the first half of the league's season, is again leading the teams with a percentage of 1.000 but the Interlake and Hortonville outfits are crowding the leaders hard and are tied for second berth with .667.

That tie for second will be broken after Sunday's struggle at Interlake park. Both teams are primed for the game and each is determined to come out with a strangle hold on the second position. Showing much better form than in the first half of the season, which it finished in last place, the Interlake team is making long strides toward the top shelf.

The Kimberly team goes to Freedom and is expected to cop that game as the Freedom aggregation has been going pretty slow in the last two games. But the cellar champions may come back strong enough to put the leaders to route.

Black Creek plays at Dale and another hot contest is looked for there. Dale is one game ahead of the Creek.

CHILTON PROTESTS GAME TO LANDIS

New Holstein—Judge K. M. Landis, supreme arbiter of baseball, has been asked to decide a protest made by Chilton last Sunday. New Holstein was returned the winner in a 13 inning game, score 2 to 1.

Chilton claimed that the victory hinged on a decision of the umpire and that he called a foul ball when actually it struck in fair territory. This protest was put up to Judge Landis and he replied by wiring ruling that the umpire's decision would stand.

Chilton was not satisfied with this and advised the judge that the facts had been insufficiently presented. A brief has been filed with the commissioner and a further reply is awaited. The matter was put up to Judge Landis because Chilton and New Holstein are in organized baseball, members of the Calumet-Manitowoc league.

BEHNKE AND JENS PLAY GREENVILLE SUNDAY

The Behnke and Jens baseball team plays the strong Greenville amateur outfit Sunday afternoon at Greenville. Both team have a reputation for playing good ball and a hard game is looked for. McGuire and Nelson will be the battery for the Cloniers.

Barfoot Inherits Ability

CLYDE BARFOOT

Enter Sergeant Clyde Barfoot, six feet tall, 175 pounds, into the ranks of winning major league pitchers. Being one of the species which has for its particular characteristic the theory that the St. Louis Cardinals are going to beat out the New York Giants for the National League pennant, the Virginia lad is giving for one proof of the verity of this doctrine his own strong right arm.

The history of that right wing—how it first learned the art of impelling the horseshoe through the atmosphere, how it strengthened month by month and year by year until now it can spear 'em up to the catcher like a streak, and how it mastered the little tricks which make up the winning arm—is a long one.

The sandlots of the capital of the Old Dominion were the scene of its first tutoring. Clyde, coming from a family already famous for their prowess on the diamond, formed a natural inclination for the game, and as a member of the Randolph and Madison school nines achieved brilliant success.

ARMY MAN FIRST
He never went to high school, but at the age of 17 and already a finished moundsman, he entered the army and immediately leaped into prominence as a pitcher. In 1916, after he had reached the rank of sergeant,

ROD AND REEL

By DIXIE CARROLL

PANNIES
To get real pleasure out of fishing for the pan fish and put it on a sporting basis, slip into a tackle shop and buy a long steel still-fishing rod about 10 or 12 feet long. This is a light whippy rod that a little pan fish can bend to considerable arch, and it gives them a fighting chance to get away, something they do not have with a short rod.

Probably a lot of the fishing gang will shout right out: "Huh! What sport is there in landing a pan fish?" From my end of the table I'll slip a stack of chips that a lot of regular guys at the angling handicap will not land every pannie as they hook, and that when the long rod begins to arch and the line cuts the water in short little slips, they will realize that they have been overlooking a part of the game that is worth while.

Naturally, these little rascals do not put up the screaming fight of the gamer basses and pike, but they do make a short, decided effort to stay in their home waters, and, finding the give to the rod, they are quick to take advantage of it.

The rest of the outfit can be the bait-casting reel, an old line with a 3-foot guy leader and a few very small hooks not to forget split shot sinkers and a bobber, if you wish it. The gut leader is preferable to simple snelled hooks, because it will keep your line upright in the water, which is a decided advantage when you are still fishing. With this outfit, and the knowledge that the pan fish are rather accommodating little fellows, biting any time in the day and most any time during the season, you ought to hook out a lot of sport giving them the once over.

Taken as a whole, the pan fish are a gentlemanly little bunch of good fellows, always eager to take a nibble and save a fisherman from ringing up a "goose egg" for the day's fishing, and to his good, clean method of living we can thank him for his fine flavor, and crown him king of fresh water fish food.

APPLETON TEAM TO PLAY AT MENASHA SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Earl Howard and Hank Schultz Will Fight It Out On Mound Again

With the new Wisconsin State baseball league in full swing the fans of Appleton and the other three cities of the circuit will have an opportunity to see a ball game every week. The league plays on Saturday and Sunday of each week and the home team plays one game a week on its own diamond.

Appleton's team goes to Menasha Sunday. Earl Howard, who is considered to be the star pitcher of the new circuit, will do the mound work for Appleton while Hank Schultz will perform for Menasha. A real hurler's battle is looked for as Howard bears a grudge against Hank for the game that he lost to Schultz several weeks ago.

After the Milwaukee man who will pitch Saturday's contest against Manitowoc, probably will be played in the outfield. The rest of the lineup will be the same as that which appeared in the Saturday game.

The announcement has been made that the rain checks issued at the Fond du Lac game last Sunday will be honored at any of the home games of the Wisconsin league. The Green Bay team plays at Manitowoc Sunday.

MANITOWOC WILL BOOST NEW LEAGUE AT SUNDAY'S GAME

Game With Green Bay Will Be Made Big Booster Affair by Ship Builders

Manitowoc—A movement was put on foot to make Sunday's ball game, the opening game of the new State league in Manitowoc, a booster occasion for the local team which will play against Green Bay and an effort will be made to emulate Sheboygan which turned out a crowd of over 3,000 when the Chairs in the Valley league played their first game at home against Kaukauna, winning 5 to 2. While the time is short here for a canvass, a call has gone out to the public to turn out a record crowd for Sunday in appreciation of the restoration to the city of league ball. Green Bay's team will be accompanied by a large delegation of fans, reports being that fifty auto parties would escort the team here.

"We are all set for opening of the league schedule at Green Bay on Saturday and for the game here Sunday," said J. F. Herzog, local pilot. In Menasha, Appleton and Green Bay, other cities of the new league the organization is received with much enthusiasm and it is predicted that the four teams will furnish the nucleus of any league in this section next season.

The local lineup Saturday and Sunday will be the same as played at Green Bay last Sunday with exception of two new twirlers.

HOW TO PLAY BASEBALL

Many Points For Outfielders

BY HARRY HOOPER

Playing the outfield is an art which mostly any one can acquire by constant practice. To some it comes easy. To others only after hard and conscientious effort.

The first step in outfielding is to learn to properly catch a fly ball. To do this it is necessary to get a quick start. It is also necessary to acquire the art of catching a ball while running at full speed in or out to either side.

In running after a fly ball the outfielder should always run on his toes, to be more correct, on the ball of his feet. If he allows his heel to strike the ground, the ball carries up to strike the spine to the eye and causes an optical illusion which makes the ball seem to come down in a zigzag course.

WATCH THE WIND

If you have a long run to make in order to reach a fly ball, run your fastest at the start, so that you can have an opportunity to time the ball and be running easily at the catch. Try to make every play look easy. An outfielder must study the batter. Knowing where a batter is likely to hit enables the fielder to play properly for him.

The fielder must also note the wind and take into consideration the effect it has on the course of the ball.

It is necessary that the fielder always know how many are out and the score. These conditions have much to do with the proper handling of the ball. For instance, when your team is several runs ahead, it is not good judgment as a rule to try to throw a baserunner out at third or the plate, but instead get the ball into second and hold the batsman to a single.

GET BALL TO SECOND

Ground balls should be played carefully except when there is a play to be made. Then you must be able to come in at full speed, scoop up the ball like an infielder and throw it while still in motion.

When a batter hits safely to the outfield, get the ball into second base as quickly as possible, particularly on fast men.

All base throws to the plate or any base should be bounced in on the first hop. This also calls for much practice.

The price involved was not made public, but is generally accepted in turf circles to have been $125,000.

BELOIT FOOTBALL STARS ARE WORKING IN MINES

Beloit—The "Montana shift" may be a new Beloit college grid stunt. McAuliffe, star quarterback; Nelson, fullback, and Lefty Farrell, a guard, are on the day and night shift in the mines near Butte this summer. It's the way they train for Beloit athletics. All live in Butte and "beat" their way back and forth to college. McAuliffe was allstate player last fall. He holds the state pole vault record.

Pittsburg—Pittsburg continued its batting rampage on Saturday and scored its twelfth consecutive victory by defeating Cincinnati, 7 to 1. Cooper allowed only two hits up to the ninth. While the average title holder mixes in about one championship affair every six months, Leonard thinks he is growing lazy if he doesn't mingle with a contender for his crown about every 30 days. As a result of his frequent milling, Leonard's bank roll is growing by leaps and bounds and he would not be at all surprised if he could write his check for a half million—and possibly some more.

Aug. Brandt Co.

Appleton PHONE 3000 Black Creek

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

by A. A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

A revolver shot was heard two minutes after ROBERT ABLETT, ne'er do well brother of MARK ABLETT, the bachelor proprietor of The Red House, had returned from a 15 years' absence in Australia and been ushered in to Mark's office.

ANTONY GILLINGHAM, a gentle man adventurer and friend of BILL BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, arrived at that moment to find MATT CAYLEY, Mark's companion, pounding on the locked door of the office and demanding admittance. The two men entered the office through a window and found the floor found the body of Robert with a bullet through the head. Police Inspector Birch believes that Mark has murdered his brother whose visit he anticipated with annoyance, but there are several points which arouse Antony's suspicions. Cayley invites him to remain over the inquest and Antony informs Bill Beverley that "things are going to happen there soon."

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Cayley was walking across the lawn toward them, a big, heavily-shouldered man, with one of those strong, clean shaven, ugly faces which can never quite be called plain.

Cayley nodded as he came to them and stood there for a moment.

"We can make room for you," said Bill getting up.

"Oh, don't bother, thanks. I just came to say," he went on to Antony, "that naturally they've rather lost their heads in the kitchen and dinner won't be till half-past eight. Do just as you like about dressing, of course."

Having said what he wanted to say, Cayley remained there a little awkwardly, as if not sure whether to go or to say Antony wondered whether he wanted to talk about the afternoon's happenings or whether it was the one subject he wished to avoid. To break the silence he asked carelessly if the inspector had come.

Cayley nodded. Then he said abruptly, "He's getting a warrant for Mark's arrest."

Bill made a suitably sympathetic noise, and Antony said with a shrug of the shoulders, "Well he was bound to do that wasn't he? It doesn't mean anything. They naturally want to get hold of your cousin, innocent or guilty."

"Which do you think he is, Mr. Gillingham?" said Cayley, looking at him steadily.

"Mark? It's absurd," said Bill impatiently.

"Bill's loyal you see, Mr. Cayley."

"And you owe no loyalty to anyone concerned?"

"Exactly. So perhaps I might be 'oo frank'."

Bill had dropped down on the grass, and Cayley took his place on the seat, and sat there heavily, his elbows on his knees, his chin on his hands, gazing at the ground.

"I want you to be quite frank," he said at last.

"Naturally I am pre-judged where Mark is concerned. So I want to know how my suggestion strikes you—who have no prejudices either way."

"Your suggestion?"

"My theory that, if Mark killed his brother it was purely accidental—as I told the inspector."

Bill looked up with interest.

"You mean that Robert did the hold-up business," he said, "and there was a bit of a struggle and the revolver went off and then Mark lost his head and bolted? That sort of idea?"

"Exactly."

"Well, that seems all right." He turned to Antony. "There's nothing wrong with that is there? It's the most natural explanation to anyone who knows Mark."

Antony pulled at his pipe.

"I suppose it is," he said slowly. "But there's one thing that worries me rather."

"What's that?" Bill and Cayley asked the question simultaneously.

"The key," said Bill.

Cayley lifted his head and looked at Antony. "What about the key?" he asked.

"Well, there may be nothing in it. I just wondered. Suppose Robert was killed as you say, and suppose Mark lost his head and thought of nothing but getting away before anyone could see him. Well, very likely he'd lock the door and put the key in his pocket. He'd do it without thinking, just to gain a moment's time."

"Yes, that's what I suggest."

"Yes, that's all right if the key is there. But suppose it isn't there?"

The suggestion made as if it were already an established fact, startled them both.

"What do you mean?" said Cayley.

"Well, it's just a question of where people happen to keep their keys. You go up to your bedroom, and perhaps you like to lock your door in case anybody comes wandering in when you've only got one sock and a pair of braces on. Well, that's natural enough. But downstairs people don't lock themselves in. It's really never done at all. Bill, for instance, has never locked himself into the dining-room in order to be alone with the sherry. On the other hand, all women, and particularly servants, have a horror of burglars. And if a burglar gets in by the window, they like to limit his activities to that particular room. So they keep the keys on the outside of the doors and lock the doors when they go to bed." He knocked the ashes out of his pipe, and added, "At least, my mother always used to."

"You mean," said Bill excitedly,

"that the key was on the outside of the door when Mark went into the room?"

"Well, I was just wondering."

"Have you noticed the other rooms—the billiard room, and library, and so on?"

"I've only just thought about it while I've been sitting out here. You live there—haven't you ever noticed them?"

Cayley sat considering, with his head on one side.

"It seems rather absurd you know but I can't say that I have."

He turned to Bill. "Have you?"

"Good Lord, no. I should never worry about a thing like that."

Antony. "Well we can have a look when we go in. If the other keys are outside then this one was probably outside too, and in that case—well, it makes it more interesting."

Cayley said nothing. Bill chewed a piece of grass, and the said "Does it make much difference?"

"It makes it more hard to understand what happened in there. Take your accidental theory and see where you get to. No instinctive turning of the key now is there?" He got to open the door to get it and opening the door means showing his head to anybody in the hall—his cousin, for instance, whom he left there two minutes ago. Is a man in Mark's state of mind, frightened to death lest he should be found with the body, going to do anything so foolhardy as that?"

"He needn't have been afraid of me," said Cayley.

"Then why didn't he call for you?"

He knew you were about. You could have advised him. Heaven knows he wanted advice. But his whole theory of Mark's escape is that he was afraid of you and of everybody else."

"Yes I expect you're right," said Bill thoughtfully. "Unless he took the key with him and locked the door at once."

"Exactly. But in that case you have to build up a new theory entirely."

"You mean that it makes it seem more deliberate?"

"Yes, that, certainly. But it also seems to make Mark out an absolute idiot. Just suppose for a moment that for urgent reasons which neither of you know anything about he had wished to get rid of his brother. Would he have done it like that? Just killed him and then run away? Why that's practically suicide. No. If you really wanted to remove an undesirable brother you would do it a little bit more cleverly than that."

Cayley had been silent apparently thinking over this new idea. With his eyes still on the ground he said now.

"Held to my opinion that it was purely accidental, and that Mark lost his head and ran away."

"But what about the key?" asked Bill.

"We don't know yet that the keys were outside."

"Oh well of course if they are inside, then your original theory is probably the correct one. Having often seen them outside, I just wondered—that's all."

"Even if the key was outside," went on Cayley stubbornly. "I still think it might have been accidental. He might have taken it in with him knowing that the interview would be an unpleasant one, and not wishing to be interrupted."

"But he had just told you to stand by in case he wanted you so why should he lock you out? Besides I should think that if a man were going to have an unpleasant interview with a threatening relation the last thing he would do would be to barricade himself in with him. He would want to open all the doors and say, 'Get out of it!'"

Cayley was silent, but his mouth looked obstinate. Antony gave a little apologetic laugh and stood up.

"Well come on, Bill," he said. "We ought to be stepping." He held out a hand and pulled his friend up. Then, turning to Cayley, he went on "You must forgive me if I have let my thoughts run on rather."

"That's all right Mr. Gillingham," said Cayley standing up too. "You say that you're going up to the inn now about your bag?"

Cayley nodded and turned to go into the house. Antony took hold of Bill's arm and walked off with him in the opposite direction.

CHAPTER VII

They walked in silence for a little, until they had left the house and gardens well behind them.

"Tell me something about Mark," said Antony suddenly.

"What sort of things?"

"Well never mind about his being your host or about your being a perfect gentleman or anything like that. Cut out the Manners for Men, and tell me what you think of Mark and how you like staying with him and how many rows your little house party has had this week, and how you got on with Cayley, and all the rest of it."

Bill looked at him eagerly.

"I say are you being the complete detective?"

"Well, I wanted a new profession," smiled the other.

"What fun? I mean," he corrected himself apologetically, "one oughtn't to say that, when there's a man dead in the house, and one's host—"

He broke off a little uncertainly.

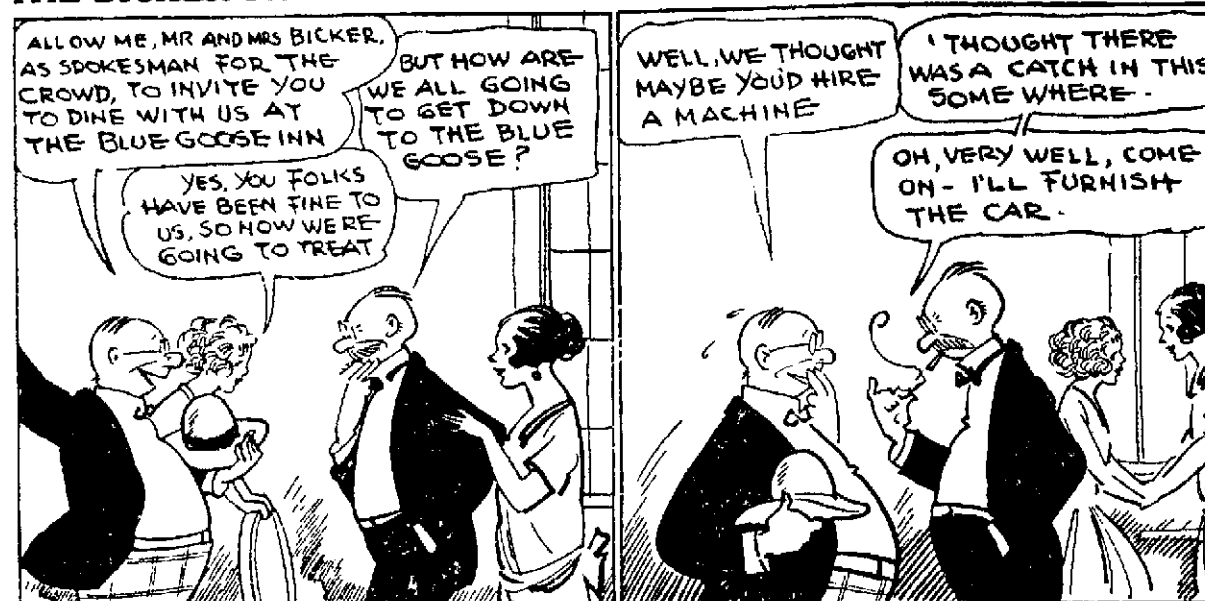

"Well," said Antony "Carry on, Mark."

Say It With Flowers But Be Sure They Say What You Want Them To Say

BY MARIAN HALE

Say it with flowers, urge all the florists. That's all very well, of course, but if you made a pilgrimage to the average flower dealer, and said "Give me a bouquet that will say, 'I'm terribly sorry, darling—it's all my fault—you are an angel,' now how many of those promoting this universal language propaganda could help you out?"

I know of one, Irene Hayes. But she is not an average dealer. She's most unusual.

If you ask her such a question, she'll immediately do up a box of violets for you. That's the message of the violets.

Miss Hayes makes a specialty of knowing what the flowers she sells say after they leave her. That's why this very pretty Kansas City girl owns her own florist shop in the exclusive Park Avenue section, New York.

"The right flowers are more delicate than words and less dangerous than letters that are likely to be saved," she explains.

"If a man wants to tell a girl he loves her, that she is the only woman in his life—at that time—he can subtly imply that by sending her a single red rose. It is much more eloquent than a bouquetful.

"If he is interested in a girl, loves to take her to the theater and enjoys her companionship but has no thought of more than a pleasant flirtation, he should send her daisies, margolds or any of the yellow garden flowers—no girl would misunderstand his intentions.

"When buying for the debutante, he should not make the mistake of sending her orchids, the divorcee's flower. She may select it for herself, but he presumes upon her sophistication if he picks it. Sweet peas, rosebuds and forget-me-nots are for the debby.

"But the language of flowers needs not only to be mastered by the man but by the woman. A wife can save lots of friction in the home if she uses the proper flowers on the dinner table.

"Suppose she has a small confession to make. Try to have the decorations in pastel colors and use simple flowers—mignonettes, pansies or violets. These will inspire confidence as she unfolds the news about the hat she had to have or the allowance that has reached the breaking point.

"When the husband is overheated and excited, do not expose him to violent colored blossoms, but rather lead him into a conservatory where palms and ferns of cooling green will soothe him."

Miss Hayes has many customers who come to her regularly and have her dispatch their floral correspondence.

She also does more pretentious things, as decorating churches for weddings, and dinner and luncheon tables to match the temperament of hostess and guest.

Recently she went to Paris to get the latest styles in flowers but she found that Paris may lead the style in frocks, it is way behind us in the use of flowers.

FURTHER PRIORITY COAL ORDERS HAVE BEEN ISSUED

Madison—Priority order requests were issued Tuesday by the Rail road Commission to the Clarkson Coal and Dock Company, operating at Ashland, Wisconsin, to supply the Nekoosa Edward Paper Company, Wis. with 20,000 tons of coal. This company is operating as a public utility and therefore can come under the emergency clause of the federal fuel administration.

A priority request was also issued for the Hillsboro railroad operating in Sauk county which reports but a few weeks supply of coal at hand. This line is said to be very small.

CHASES MILK BOTTLE BANDIT IN B. V. D.'S

Beloit, Wis.—Clad only in his B. V. D.'s with the thermometer at 50, Peter Goetzman pursued juvenile milk bottle bandits several blocks here at midnight and succeeded in capturing two of them. Identity of members of a gang that has been systematically rifling milk bottles of money left for dairymen was learned and they were reported to the police.

MUSIC WORKER

MRS. STILLMAN KELLEY

"We shall always be a nation of music borrowers instead of music makers unless we develop American music and give the American composer a chance."

Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelley, wife of the famous American composer, says that. That is why she is one of the active workers in the One-Million-Dollar campaign to establish an American opera house.

"An American opera house, where our native works and artists can be heard as well as foreign operas in our own language will give the necessary opportunity for native composers and can be the home of American art," she explains. She has just been appointed chairman of the opera and orchestra department of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Adventures Of The Twins

Comet-Legs Plots

Mr. Peersabout the Man in the Moon, was telling Nancy and Nick about Comet-Legs—the jealous fairy, who rode through the sky on a shooting star and made him so much trouble.

"Yes," he nodded, "that's the way he does. He straddles his star with his bow legs and away he goes to see how much trouble he can make.

"Sometimes he goes to the earth and sprinkles fog around so folks can't see me. Sometimes, when I'm gone, he comes here to my house and reads my mail and finds out what kind of a moon folks want."

"Then he changes the words, and I send moonlight when it's not wanted, and tother way round. He gets me in wrong all the time."

"Sometimes he goes and calls on Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the Weather man and whispers mischief to the Four Winds. They begin to blow up banks of clouds between me and the earth and folks can't see the moon for days 'n' days."

"The thing old Comet-Legs is trying hardest of all to do is to discover where I keep my engine-house, where all the handles are—handles to guide the moon with on its travels."

"He's boasted that once he finds them, he's going to make the moon run backwards. He says folks will like that best."

"Then they'll put me out and make him the Man in the Moon in my place."

Nancy and Nick, you may be sure, were all eyes and ears while Mr. Peersabout was talking. Never had they heard anything so strange.

"What would happen if the moon were to run the wrong way?" asked Nick.

"Fireworks," declared Mr. Peersabout. "It would bump into all the big stars and most likely blow up. But Comet-Legs is too stupid to know that."

"Why don't you let him find out?" suggested Nancy.

"And lose the moon?" exclaimed Mr. Peersabout. "No! If I can help it!"

ENTER THE FLAPPER

Chapter 8 — Start Fateful Trip

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

June moonlight stirs the young blood of PEGGY DEAN to recklessness. Her mother and the parents of her cousin, WINNIE HOLLIS, are at a dance. Peggy shocks her cousin by leaving the apartment at midnight with BOB VANDERPOOL and Winnie decides to chaperone her, accompanied by TED HARKER. They go to a cabaret and are joined by two professional dancers, OLIVE SARANTINO and DUNCAN LEE. When the cabaret closes Peggy wishes to continue the party despite Winnie's plea they return home.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Just wait for me a second, won't you?" Winnie's voice was entreating. "I want to phone upstairs."

"Sure," Bobby's cheerful acquiescence to Winnie's intemperate meddling, as Peggy saw it, made Peggy rage. Her cousin was already in the foyer telephoning. She called up stairs only to be told that the Hollises and Mrs. Dean had not yet returned.

Winnie was now frantically telephoning the Yacht Club. The report depressed her still more. She rejoined them.

"The steward at the club," she stammered, "thinks they've gone to some inn—Mikado Inn it sounded like."

Peggy's jeering laugh jarred her. "Right! Great! Well, Win, my child, that puts it up to us to pursue our erring parents. Get in, Salvation Win!"

Good natured Bobby, sensing the imminent clash, intervened. "Sure. Get in, Win. We'll just blow in on your people at the inn and drag 'em home."

"Where is Mikado Inn, if anybody knows?" asked Bobby, his cheery tones trying to dissipate the sultry atmosphere.

"Out on the Merrick Road," Olive's level, amused voice making the other girls appear exaggeratedly what they were—mere school kids, "flaps."

Bobby swung the car about. Olive leaned her lovely arm on the back of his seat and offered directions in a low tone. Peggy caught the scent of delicious perfume, a powerful weapon in the professional dancer's armory.

Her rich voice, with a velvety ripple of amusement in it, was saying things Peggy could not quite hear. But there was no need to hear the words the voice carried its message without them.

Peggy's face was set. The fight in her was aroused, first by Winnie's meddling, then by Olive's daring. Poor Peggy had for the moment no weapon other than her rage—and that was not enough to win a boy.

She was in this mood of desperation when the car drew up before Mikado Inn, a lovely picture of Japanese gardens, glamorous with lanterns glowing softly beside a little stream.

But a search of the inn resulted only in a new problem. Neither Peggy's mother nor the Hollises were there.

Works Sixty Years Always On Same Road

Lafayette, Ind.—Charles F. Bane is getting well into his sixth decade in the service of the Monon railroad.

He never has had but the one employer. It was as a car cleaner that he got his first job in 1863. In 1873 he became a locomotive fireman and 45 years ago he stepped upward to the throttle. Since 1890 he has piloted the same train between Lafayette and Chicago. In all his life as an engineer he never has had a serious accident.

What's more, he is not retiring. His physical tests he passes as well as ever and feels confident, he says that he still has many more years of railroad work ahead of him.

TESTED RECIPE

SCALLOPED FRESH TOMATOES

By Bertha E. Shapleigh There are certain meats which seem to need always a vegetable like the tomato, and fish is especially good in combination with tomatoes, cooked or raw.

Scalloped tomatoes, like scalloped oysters, may be good, or equally poor, due to careless use of the bread crumbs and too little seasoning. The following recipe is good.

6 tomatoes peeled and cut into thin slices

1 cup fine bread crumbs (soft stale bread is better than the over-dry)

2 tablespoons chopped onion

3 tablespoons butter or bacon fat

1 tablespoon sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

A little pepper

Fry the onion in the butter or bacon fat for five minutes but do not let it brown. Add crumbs and mix until crumbs are well coated with fat.

In a buttered baking dish place a layer of tomatoes, sprinkle with sugar, salt and pepper. Cover with crumbs and repeat until material is used, having crumbs on top.

Bake twenty minutes (Cut this out and paste it in your cook book.)

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is—DECALOGUE.

It's pronounced—dek a log, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—the Ten Commandments, given by God to Moses (Exodus 20:1-18) on Mount Sinai.

It comes from—two Greek words meaning respectively, "ten" and "speech, to speak, to say."

It's used like this—"Considering how many things there are to do that the Decalogue doesn't mention, it's surprising what a preference most people show for the acts this famous code prohibits."

Household Hints

LININGS

Beautiful linings are a feature of the fur coats now shown for the August sales. Sometimes gold or silver brocade is used and frequently embroidery is added. For serviceable coats, very dark, sensible silks are used.

RUFFLES

Small ruffles of Val lace are used most ingeniously this season by the smartest houses. One of the most effective places is on the wide kimono sleeves. Sometimes the cuff, of solid ruffles, reaches from the wrist to the elbows.

SLIPS

The favored slip of the moment is the one of Italian silk with the wide shadowproof hem. Separate petticoats, similarly treated, are also very much used now.

FIGURED SILKS

Figured silks were never more popular than now. Designs are being taken from rugs, hangings, wall panels and pieces of mosaic—the more antique the origin the better liked.

COSMETICS

The matter of carrying rouge and powder in the smallest space has been solved by one genius who has patented a box which has a double opening—from the top you get powder and from the bottom rouge. It is the size of the usual single compact powder box.

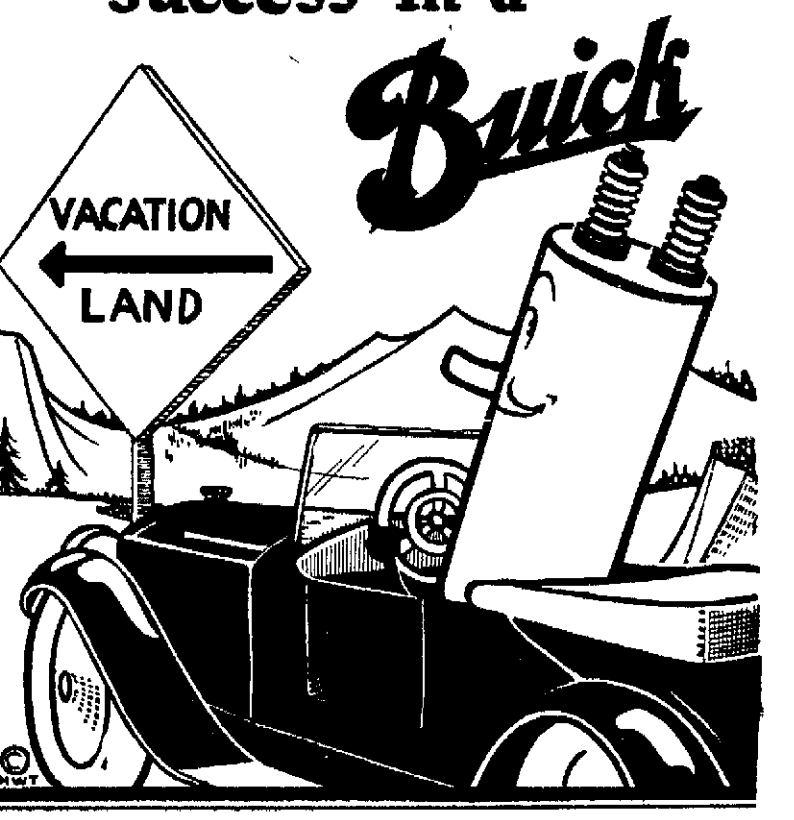

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

With flappers and grandmothers dressing alike these days, it is hard to distinguish the maid from the matron. In Oriental countries there is no such difficulty because the dress of married and unmarried women is different.

In Japan there are some colors a girl may wear which she must relinquish forever when she marries.

Also she is then able to wear others denied her as a girl.

There is no fuel so economical and efficient as genuine Milwaukee Solvay Coke for use in furnace, base burner, heater or range — for heating, or cooking.

Many Desirable Features

Here is a popular home suited for almost any small or medium size family, any locality, any location. There are features about this home which set it apart from other five room houses. The proportions are so pleasing that they produce notes of extreme distinction.

Study the balance and spacing of the windows and note how the peak of the porch gable breaks into the long sweep of the porch roof. Dormer windows give life and animation to the exterior. The generous porch, which measures 8 1/2 feet by 11 feet, is so designed that it does not shut off the sun from dining and living room windows.

There is not an inch of waste space in this home. It can be accommodated comfortably on a 40 foot lot. The house is designed to be built of frame construction with exterior finish in stucco on metal lath and shingle roof. Outside dimensions are 30 ft. 3 inches wide by 21 ft. 3 inches deep. There is a full basement.

One-half of the lower floor is given over to the living room which is dominated by a well placed brick fireplace with adjoining bookcase the same height as mantel shelf. Four windows provide the living room with plenty of sunshine and fresh air and an outlook on three sides.

The entrance vestibule offers liberal hanging space for coats and hats at one side of the door. The kitchen is small, but planned to lighten housework and lessen labor. A window over the sink, another over the table, supply plenty of sunshine, light and cross ventilation.

In localities where ordinances require brick or masonry walls the exterior of the house can be changed to meet such conditions. Stock and standardized materials are used wherever possible, thus assisting to eliminate waste and lessen cost.
